

The government has ambitious growth plans for North Northamptonshire. Over 50,000 planned new homes over the next 20 years will significantly expand the local economy.

Volterra has been working with Bee Bee developments to ensure that plans for the region will create a sustainable and attractive place for both new and existing residents.

Our work has examined the interaction of population and employment through commuting networks, the need for services and the strength of different sectors of the economy. We have used innovative approaches to understand the scale of the challenge for the area and to provide realistic future scenarios to guide planning policy. The analysis was grounded in employment forecasts produced in house.

Volterra have assisted Bee Bee as they have developed visions for the area and discussed them with important local stakeholders. We looked in detail into the logistics market, including the results of consolidation, eastward migration of manufacturing and new legislation. Road based freight has traditionally dominated, but there has been increased interest in how to adapt the industry in the face of new green thinking from government and consumers.
